

MFT Go!

A complete managed service solution for secure data transfer based on IBM Connect:Direct

Organisations may require new trading partners to use a secure file transfer system when setting up a new business relationship with them, so Bluebird has developed MFT Go! to make this process as easy as possible.

IBM Connect:Direct software is established as an industry standard for achieving a secure file transfer process, and is often recommended or even mandated by banks and financial institutions to provide optimum security of sensitive data.

However, the costs of setting up a connection can be capital intensive and a barrier to creating new partnerships. In addition, new partners may not have the technical in-house expertise to implement and maintain an IBM Connect:Direct environment. Even with IBM software support to resolve problems with the software code, technical issues caused by configuration, the network or even the data itself, are not covered.

MFT Go! is an end-to-end solution that has been designed to address all of these potential challenges for organisations. From on premise or cloud implementation, to monitoring and ongoing support, MFT Go! allows organisations deploy Connect:Direct quickly and easily.

MFT Go!
