DATA PROTECTION

Ensure day to day operations run like clockwork

Backing Up Data Shouldn't Be A Pain

IT leaders are issuing mandates to drive more efficiencies from data protection initiatives.

Backing up data is an essential day to day function of any organisation, yet the time, effort and resource needed to execute is not so simple.

Amid rising costs and lower budgets, data protection and storage management solutions need to be cost effective and commercially viable to meet changing requirements as the uncertainty and unpredictability around the cost of data growth continues to put huge pressure on budgets and financial planning efforts.

Backup as a Service

Custodian Backup as a Service (BaaS) is a fully managed data protection solution utilising best of breed technologies based on an organisation's data requirements and policies. Offload the operational management of your backup environment onto Celerity technical resource reducing operational and administrative costs by up to 54%.

Custodian BaaS builds upon the features provided by Celerity's Managed Service function. You simply provide us with your backup and recovery SLAs, RPOs and RTOs and we will deliver a data protection solution tailored to meet your business requirements. Your company data can be securely and automatically backed up on-premise or to a public or private cloud where it is fully replicated to a secondary site for resilience and failover capabilities.

Custodian's modular design enables organisations to integrate Custodian BaaS with other data protection modules to support DR as a Service, DataMapping, Cyber Security and many others.
